World Heritage

A World Heritage Site is a site determined by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) to have significant cultural or natural importance to humanity. As such the sites are protected and maintained by the International World Heritage Programme which is administered by the UNESCO World Heritage Committee. Because World Heritage Sites are places that are significant culturally and naturally, they vary in type and include forests, lakes, monuments, buildings and cities.

World Heritage Sites can also be a combination of both cultural and natural areas. For example, Mount Huangshan in China is a site with significance to human culture because it played a role in historical Chinese art and literature. The mountain is also significant because of its physical landscape characteristics.

HISTORY OF WORLD HERITAGE SITES

Although the idea of protecting cultural and natural heritage sites around the world began in the

- What significant aspects should a world heritage site have?
- heritage : that which is valued because of historical/natural/cultural importance
- ♦ What do world heritage sites include?
- characteristics : distinguishing features or qualities

- artefacts : any objects made by a human being
- scores of : plenty of, many of
- dismantling : disassembling, pulling down
- ♦ Why did UNESCO launch an international campaign in 1959?
- initiated : began, started
- ♦ Why did a White House Conference in the United States call for a 'World Heritage Trust' ?
- ♦ What does the World Heritage Committee consist of?
- ♦ What is the World Heritage Committee responsible for?

early twentieth century, momentum for its actual creation was not until the 1950s. In 1954, Egypt started plans to build the Aswan High Dam to collect and control water from the Nile River. The initial plan for the dam's construction would have flooded the valley containing the Abu Simbel Temples and scores of ancient Egyptian artefacts. To protect the temples and artifacts, UNESCO launched an international campaign in 1959 that called for the dismantling and movement of the temples to higher ground. The project cost an estimated US $80 million, $40 million of which came from 50 different countries. Because of the project's success, UNESCO and the International Council on Monuments and Sites initiated a draft convention to create an international organization responsible for protecting cultural heritage.

Shortly thereafter in 1965, a White House Conference in the United States called for a "World Heritage Trust" to protect historic and cultural sites but to also protect the world's significant natural and scenic sites. Finally, in 1968, the International Union for Conservation of Nature developed similar goals and presented them at the United Nations conference on Human Environment in Stockholm, Sweden in 1972. Following the presentation of these goals, the Convention concerning the Protection of World Cultural and Natural Heritage was adopted by UNESCO's General Conference on November 16, 1972.

THE WORLD HERITAGE COMMITTEE

Today, the World Heritage Committee is the main group responsible for establishing which sites will be listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The Committee meets once a year and consists of representatives from 21 State Parties that are elected for six year terms by the World Heritage Center's General Assembly. The State Parties are then responsible for identifying and nominating new sites within their territory to be considered for inclusion on the World Heritage list.

BECOMING A WORLD HERITAGE SITE

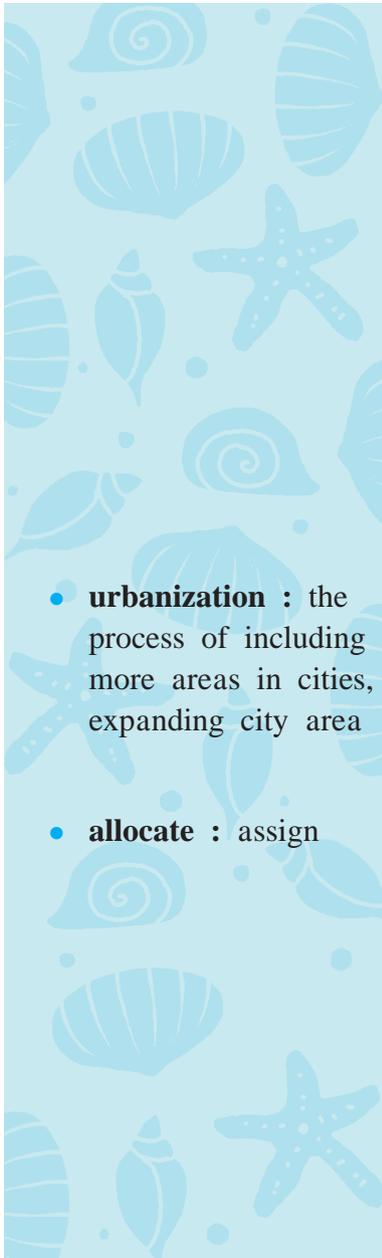

There are five steps in becoming a World Heritage Site, the first of which is for a country or State Party to take an inventory of its significant cultural and natural sites. This is called the Tentative List and it is important because nominations to the World Heritage List will not be considered unless the nominated site was first included on the Tentative List. Next, countries are then able to select sites from their Tentative Lists to be included on a Nomination File. The third step is a review of the Nomination File by two Advisory Bodies consisting of the International Council on Monuments and Sites and the World Conservation Union, who then make recommendations to the World Heritage Committee. The World Heritage Committee meets once a year to review these recommendations and decide which sites will be added to the World Heritage List. The final step in becoming a World Heritage Site is determining whether or not a nominated site meets at least one of ten selection criteria. If the site meets these criteria, it can then be inscribed on the World Heritage List. Once a site goes through this process and is chosen, it remains the property of the country on whose territory it sits, but it also becomes considered within the international community.

TYPES OF WORLD HERITAGE SITES

As of 2009, there are 890 World Heritage Sites that are located in 148 countries (map). 689 of these sites are cultural and include places like the Sydney Opera House in Australia and the Historic Center of Vienna in Austria. 176 are natural and feature such locations as the U.S.'s Yellowstone and Grand Canyon National Parks. 25 of the World Heritage Sites are considered mixed i.e. natural and cultural Peru's Machu Picchu is one of these. Italy has the highest number of World Heritage Sites with 44.

- ◆ When was the convention concerning the protection of World Cultural and Natural Heritage adopted and by whom?
- ◆ Who makes recommendations to the World Heritage Committee?
- inventory : a detailed list
- recommendations : suggestions, proposals
- criteria : fixed basis to judge
- to inscribe : to print, to write or to engrave
- territory : region

- ◆ What is the Peru's Machu Picchu example of?

- urbanization : the process of including more areas in cities, expanding city area
- allocate : assign

India has 36 (28 cultural, 7 natural and 1 mixed) World Heritage Sites. The World Heritage Committee has divided the world’s countries into five geographic zones which include (1) Africa, (2) Arab States, (3) Asia Pacific (including Australia and Oceania), (4) Europe and North America and (5) Latin America and the Caribbean.

WORLD HERITAGE SITES IN DANGER

Like many natural and historic cultural sites around the world, many World Heritage Sites are in danger of being destroyed or lost due to war, poaching, natural disasters like earthquakes, uncontrolled urbanization, heavy tourist traffic and environmental factors like air pollution and acid rain. World Heritage Sites that are in danger are inscribed on a separate List of World Heritage Sites in Danger which allows the World Heritage Committee to allocate resources from the World Heritage Fund to that site. In addition, different plans are put into place to protect and/or restore the site. If however, a site loses the characteristics which allowed for it to be originally included on the World Heritage List, the World Heritage Committee can choose to delete the site from the list. To learn more about World Heritage Sites, visit the World Heritage Centre’s website at whc.unesco.org.

Making Power Point Presentations

(a) Read the following paragraph about Power Point.

A Power Point is like a magic wand that makes you a wizard in presentation skills. There are innumerable uses of Power Point and it has been one of the most popular applications of Microsoft Office since the very beginning. A slide show can help a teacher deliver a lesson, illustrate historical and geographical facts and data, easily display and analyse statistical information, or in training.

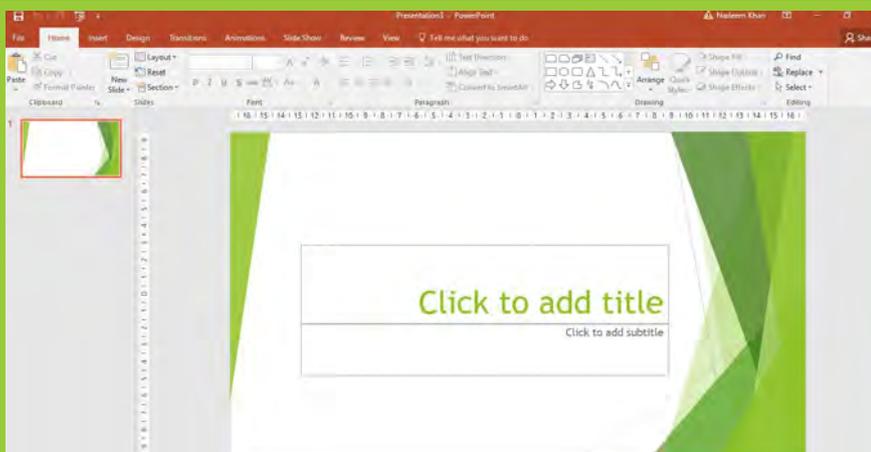

A slide show can be a valuable tool for learning and sharing for the learners. Whether presenting at annual events, science meets or convincing parents to get a gadget, Power Point presentations are very useful.

Gaskins has saved our hours of painstakingly handcrafting displays by inventing Power Point. Here are steps on how to create a basic slide show using Microsoft Power Point.

STEPS

Step 1: Open Microsoft Power Point

Step 2: Go to File at the top of the screen and click “New”. Choose Blank Presentation or any of the Templates from the right side of your screen. Click it to create new Presentation 1.

Step 3: Slide Design

You may choose a different color and design for your template by clicking on “Design” button in the Menu option.

Step 4: Adding Text

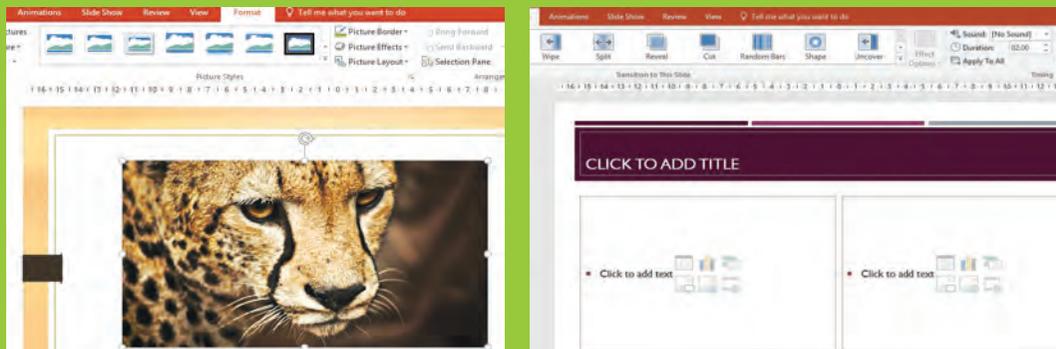

Enter your text by clicking and then typing in the box titled “Click to Add Text” or “Click to Add Title” on the Slide 1.

Step 5: Adding Pictures

Click on Insert in the File and click on “Pictures” to add picture from your computer. Or just Drag and Drop the picture in Slide layout from the folder in your computer.

Step 6: Resizing Pictures

You may change the size of your picture by clicking on the picture. The picture will then have black lines around it with small bubbles or boxes in the corners. Place your mouse over the bubbles or boxes and click. Holding the mouse pointer down, drag the picture to the size you want. Various image formatting tools can be accessed from “Format” in the Menu.

Step 7: Add Transitions

Add effects to your presentation by selecting different transition modes for different slides from “Transition” in the Menu.

Step 8: You’re Done

Wasn’t that easy? Now you can do it again to make more Slides. Select design of your new slide from “New Slide” button under “Home” Menu. Keep adding!

Step 9: Go Live! Start your Slide Show.

Click “From Beginning” button under “Slide Show” in the Menu.

(b) Rearrange the following steps of creating a Power Point slide in proper sequence.

(1) Save your slide and start Slide Show from the beginning. (2) Click "New" to create Blank Presentation 1. (3) Add Pictures by clicking "Insert" button. (4) Click "Design" to choose color and design template. (5) Click to add Text and Title in the slide. (6) Add New Slide from Home menu. (7) Resize your pictures, or graphics. "The most effective Power Point presentations should contain no more than 10 slides, last no longer than 20 minutes, and feature font no smaller than 30 points."
